Re: Additional School Make Up Day

The inclement weather and school closures have created the need for us to make up more instructional hours. As mentioned in a previous communication, our next option is to have school on Monday, April 22nd. This was originally scheduled as a no school day but will now be a student contact day. We are out of options to make up days within the parameters of the current school calendar. If we have another school closure day going forward, we may need to add days at the end of the year.

Think Spring!
