

(Updated as of 5/2/19)

School Make-up for Inclement Weather

2018-2019 School Year

I want to communicate with you regarding some changes in our school calendar for this school year. We have tried hard using many strategies to not have to extend the school year. However, this historical winter has left us with no options. Given we had an inclement weather day on Thursday April 11th and we had a two hour late start on Friday April 12th, we need to make-up some student contact time.

We will now need to extend the school year by one day. Wednesday June 5th will now be our last day with students in the district.

We are also extending our teacher/paraprofessional schedule. The last day was to be Friday June 7th. We will now have our last day with the teachers and paraprofessionals on Monday June 10th.

Thank you for understanding.

Kevin Sipple- Superintendent
Boyceville Community School District